

(OBVERSE)

A BRIDGEHEAD WITHOUT A BRIDGE!

That's your job in Tunisia – to hold a bridgehead without a bridge. There's no way back!

In your rear is the Mediterranean, ruled by the British Navy.

DROWNING IS A NASTY DEATH

But Hitler would rather let you drown than order you to lay down your arms!

DO YOU WANT A SECOND STALINGRAD?

At Stalingrad the Sixth Army received personal orders from Hitler to fight and die to the last man. Two hundred thousand men of this army are dead. Half that number, including Field Marshal Paulus, 23 Generals and 2,500 officers, surrendered.

Which example will you follow, German soldier in Tunisia?

Here you are faced with

A CRUSHING SUPERIORITY

in troops, tanks, guns and aircraft. The road back is cut! Our Navy rules the sea, our fighters rule the air!

THERE'S NO WAY BACK!

But for you there's a way out – a way home. Take it, and after the war you'll return safe and sound to your dear ones at home.

It is the way through captivity.

German soldiers –

COME OVER TO US!

(REVERSE)

GERMAN SOLDIERS!

You've fought gallantly. You've done your duty.

But now your leaders are asking too much of you. They are asking you to throw your lives away to no purpose. No soldier's honour requires him to do that!

Your dear ones at home ask something else: They ask you to go on living: that's your only way of helping to build Germany up again after the war.

Germany has lost the war. Well, then, isn't the best German patriot the man who tries to bring on the inevitable end as soon as possible?

Come over to our lines! Don't be afraid of us: we'll treat you as courageous and honourable soldiers.

You needn't bring any Safe Conduct Pass with you. Bring this leaflet, if you can. But it's not necessary.

By coming over to our lines you'll be doing the best thing for yourselves, for your dear ones at home, and also for your nation; later on it will need to have as many of its young men alive as possible!

It has been an honourable battle; now lay down your arms.

COME OVER TO US!
